This wine is made entirely from Sauvignon Blanc grapes grown on their own vinifera roots at the Callaway Vineyard and four other small, neighboring vineyards. These are all located less than nine miles east of the village of Temecula/Rancho California in the south coastal mountains, 23 miles from the Pacific Ocean.

It has a light golden color with a slightly green tone. In the nose there is the aroma of fresh herbs, quite typical of this grape variety. A hint of oak is contributed by the five month aging period in our German Oak barrels.

This 1981 Fumé Blanc was fermented completely dry, yet the impression is one of depth and full, well-rounded flavors. This is due in part to the fact that all our grapes are grown on vinifera roots in vineyard soil of decomposed granite, a most unusual and favorable combination.

Please visit us and study our ways at this small, modern wine estate. Here you can see for yourself that from vine to customer, Callaway wines are among the most carefully nurtured wines in the world.
